RE: Warranties on Munitions

Defense Technology munition products have a 5-Year Warranty.

The warranty of these products is Defense Technology's written guarantee of responsibility for repair and/or replacement of defective products or parts of a product. A warranty does not imply that a product cannot be used beyond its stated time period. However, Defense Technology does recommend agencies follow a replacement policy.

Defense Technology also recommends that officers conduct a visual inspection to ensure the product remains in excellent condition at regular intervals.
